INSTRUCTIONS:

This is a self-assessment tool for your manuscript. First, answer the questions in Assessment A and record your numbers in the table provided. Then go to Assessment B and locate the rubric for your genre, rating your manuscript and recording the point values in the table provided. Writers who score higher on this assessment are more likely to be accepted for publication and historically are more likely to do well in selling categories. If, after going through this rubric, you feel there is more work to do, please schedule a free writing consultation with Bridget.
